POSTMASTERS

Are Victims of Green Goods Men.

Ohio Not Yet Invaded, as Far as Is Known.

Postmasters in the rural districts of other states than Ohio have been in receipt of numbers of bogus letters from green goods men, and the stock in trade advertised by these people is U. S. postage stamps. Attractive letters are sent out, drawing the gullebliss postmaster's attention to the manner in which the postmaster of some neighboring village dresses and stating that all his fine clothing and diamonds come from the fact that he gets his stamps from them.

They offer to sell $1,000 worth of $250, and send a form of telegram telling the postmaster to send it, if he comes to New York. They catch many suckers, and having made their deal, change satchels or bundles in a cab, while getting away from the place. Ohio postmasters have not yet been victims, as far as known.
